Reading begins to happen in fragments. A few pages in the morning while the day is still quiet. A bookmarked section checked again in the afternoon. A highlighted paragraph revisited at night because it suddenly makes more sense. These moments do not feel like formal study. They feel natural.

The layout remains familiar every time the file is opened. Pages look the same, headings stay where they were, and visual cues help the mind remember. Over time, readers stop searching and start navigating instinctively.

Notes appear almost without effort. A sentence stands out, so it gets highlighted. A thought forms, so it gets written in the margin. Weeks later, those notes feel like messages left behind by an earlier version of the reader.
